

40 Assets Toddlers Need to Succeed

Ages 13 to 35 Months

Search Institute has identified the following key building blocks of healthy development that help young people grow up caring and competent.

	CATEGORY	ASSET NAME AND DEFINITION
EXTERNAL ASSETS	Support	<ol style="list-style-type: none"> 1. Family support—Family life provides high levels of love and support. 2. Positive family communication—Parents communicate with toddlers in positive ways. Parents respond to toddlers in a reasonable amount of time and respect their needs. 3. Other adult relationships—Parents have support from three or more adults and ask for help when needed. Toddlers receive additional love and comfort from at least one adult other than their parents. 4. Caring neighborhood—Toddlers experience caring neighbors. 5. Caring out-of-home climate—Toddlers are in caring, encouraging environments outside the home. 6. Parent involvement in out-of-home situations—Parents are actively involved in helping toddlers succeed in situations outside the home. Parents communicate toddlers' needs to caretakers outside the home.
	Empowerment	<ol style="list-style-type: none"> 7. Community values children—The family places toddlers at the center of family life and recognizes the need to set limits for toddlers. Other adults in the community value and appreciate toddlers. 8. Children are given useful roles—The family involves toddlers in family life. 9. Service to others—Parents serve others in the community. 10. Safety—Toddlers have safe environments at home, in out-of-home settings, and in the neighborhood. This includes childproofing these environments.
	Boundaries and Expectations	<ol style="list-style-type: none"> 11. Family boundaries—Parents are aware of toddlers' preferences and adapt the environment to suit toddlers' needs. Parents set age-appropriate limits for toddlers. 12. Out-of-home boundaries—Childcare settings and other out-of-home environments have clear rules and consequences to protect toddlers while consistently providing appropriate stimulation and enough rest. 13. Neighborhood boundaries—Neighbors take responsibility for monitoring and supervising toddlers' behavior as they begin to play and interact outside the home. 14. Adult role models—Parents and other adults model positive, responsible behavior. 15. Positive peer observation—Toddlers observe siblings and other children interacting in positive ways. They have opportunities to interact with children of various ages. 16. Appropriate expectations for growth—Parents have realistic expectations for toddlers' development at this age. Parents encourage development without pushing toddlers beyond their own pace.
	Constructive Use of Time	<ol style="list-style-type: none"> 17. Creative activities—Parents expose toddlers to music, art, or other creative age-appropriate activities each day. 18. Out-of-home activities—Parents expose toddlers to limited but stimulating situations outside the home. The family keeps toddlers' needs in mind when attending events. 19. Religious community—The family regularly attends religious programs or services while keeping toddlers' needs in mind. 20. Positive, supervised time at home—Parents supervise toddlers at all times and provide predictable, enjoyable routines at home.
INTERNAL ASSETS	Commitment to Learning	<ol style="list-style-type: none"> 21. Achievement expectation and motivation—Family members are motivated to do well at work, at school, and in the community, and model their motivation for toddlers. 22. Children are engaged in learning—Parents and family members model responsive and attentive attitudes at work, at school, in the community, and at home. 23. Stimulating activity—Parents encourage toddlers to explore and provide stimulating toys that match toddlers' emerging skills. Parents are sensitive to toddlers' dispositions, preferences, and level of development. 24. Enjoyment of learning—Parents enjoy learning and express this through their own learning activities. 25. Reading for pleasure—Parents read to toddlers every day and find ways for toddlers to participate in enjoyable reading experiences.
	Positive Values	<ol style="list-style-type: none"> 26. Family values caring—Parents convey their beliefs about helping others by modeling their helping behaviors. 27. Family values equality and social justice—Parents place a high value on promoting social equality, religious tolerance, and reducing hunger and poverty while modeling these beliefs for toddlers. 28. Family values integrity—Parents act on their convictions, stand up for their beliefs, and communicate and model this in the family. 29. Family values honesty—Parents tell the truth and convey their belief in honesty through their actions. 30. Family values responsibility—Parents accept and take personal responsibility. 31. Family values healthy lifestyle—Parents love children, setting the foundation for toddlers to develop healthy attitudes and beliefs about relationships.
